

TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, A VERIFIED ALERT IS THE BEST DEFENSE

BY JOE ALLEN, SONITROL SECURITY OF DELAWARE VALLEY

When it comes to securing your commercial property or construction site, criminals are getting smarter. It's not enough to have an effective camera system, you also need to HEAR what is happening during a break-in. Most importantly, the incident must be VERIFIED.

IF IT'S NOT VERIFIED, IT'S SIMPLY GUESSING

An impact-activated, audio-based intrusion detection system that is integrated with your access control, allows you to verify the threat posed by an alarm event before police are called. False alarms are minimized, creating a faster police response, and criminals are apprehended! Sonitrol now has over 170,000 documented apprehensions.

The combination of audio with video, as well as 24/7 monitoring by security professionals creates a secure environment that is hard to penetrate.

Using this approach, the break-in can be heard before it is seen. This early detection approach allows the police to arrive before too much damage can be done.

Thefts that occur at construction sites or vacant facilities, can devastate construction managers or building owners. These thefts of tools, copper or HVAC units are on the rise.

To fully protect your commercial building or construction site, consider a SonaVision system. It's an advanced, real-time, heat and motion video monitoring technology.

SonaVision is vastly superior to standard, digital recorder-based, monitored video, and static CCTV cameras that simply record video, because SonaVision detection is immediate and because it is a VERIFIED alarm.

Since 1964, Sonitrol Security has been the trusted name for providing business security systems in North America, with a combination of human know-how and the latest technology. Our system is so sophisticated that we often catch criminals before they gain entry to our customers' facilities.
