WCRE WELCOMES NEW VICE PRESIDENT TONY BANKS

Banks will focus on expanding the firm's footprint in Philadelphia and the suburbs

February 13, 2017 – Marlton, NJ – Wolf Commercial Real Estate (WCRE) is pleased to announce the hiring of Tony Banks, who joins the firm as a Vice President. Banks brings a unique combination of commercial real estate and high finance experience to WCRE. Banks brings nearly a decade of experience in commercial real estate, representing local and national retail tenants, landlords, community development groups, investors, and startups in the Philadelphia area. Prior to his work in real estate, he was a trading analyst on the floor of the Philadelphia Stock Exchange for more than ten years, where he worked with some of the more prominent firms on the NYSE.

Banks's role at WCRE will include a focus on expanding the firm's client base in Pennsylvania, especially in and around Philadelphia. He will also provide leadership in sales and leasing, tenant and landlord representation, investment sales, and multi-family dwellings. Banks was most recently an associate at Legend Properties, where he focused on sales and leasing, landlord and tenant representation, and investment sales.

Having recently marked its fifth anniversary, WCRE is now well established in Southern New Jersey, and leadership sees growth in the Pennsylvania markets as a natural next step. The firm has added two new key team members on the account service side every year since its founding.

“Our team has been evolving according to our deliberate strategy to ensure we are able to anticipate and meet the specific needs of our clients and community,” said Jason Wolf, founder and managing principal of WCRE. “Tony has a terrific track record as a real estate professional and a knowledge of finance that will enable us to educate and serve clients in new ways.”

WCRE is highly dedicated to community service, and seeks new team members who share this value. Banks is an excellent fit in this regard, as he is active in several local community and professional groups. He is on the board of the Chestnut Hill Youth Sports Club, and is a member of the Watertower Recreation Center Advisory Council, among others.

"I've admired WCRE's commitment to building strong communities and relationships and its leadership in innovation for a long time," said Banks. "I'm truly excited to join such a dynamic team and look forward to all we will accomplish together."
