WCRE OPENS CENTER CITY PHILADELPHIA OFFICE

New Exclusive Assignments and High Volume of Transactions Lead Growing Firm to Expand into Central Business District

June 5, 2018 – Marlton, NJ – Wolf Commercial Real Estate (WCRE) is pleased to announce that it will be opening a new office at 1601 Market Street in Philadelphia. This will be the firm's third office, in addition to its headquarters in Marlton, NJ and an office in King of Prussia that opened in 2014.

"We've been serving numerous clients in and around Center City for a while now, so it makes sense to strengthen those relationships by opening an office here," said Anthony Mannino, chief operating officer of WCRE. "This move will help create more opportunities for our professionals to network and collaborate with clients and partners, and to expand our commitment to community initiatives."

Since its founding in 2012, WCRE has grown into a market leader in Southern New Jersey and southeastern Pennsylvania. The team has set a new standard in serving the needs of owners, tenants, and investors. The firm currently has more than 175 properties comprising 4.2 million square feet of office, retail, medical, industrial, flex and investment property in the region under exclusive watch.

Along with Mannino, WCRE's Philadelphia team includes several well-known business leaders with deep roots in the city. Among them are Brian Propp, director of strategic relationships, Andrew Maristch, vice president corporate services & portfolios, Tony Banks, vice president, and Joseph Nassib, sales associate. Each brings a unique skill set, along with energy, passion, and the signature WCRE commitment to the community. Founding principal Jason Wolf, and Lee Fein, a senior vice president and industrial space specialist, will assist the Center City team from their respective bases in Southern NJ and King of Prussia.

Last year WCRE became affiliated with CORFAC International, a network of independently-owned, entrepreneurial commercial real estate firms with 78 offices worldwide. The move has helped elevate the firm and contributed to its latest expansion.
