WCRE ADDS TRIO OF NEW HIRES TO PHILADELPHIA/NEW JERSEY TEAM AND RELOCATES TO LOGAN SQUARE

New Assignments and High Volume of Transactions Lead Commercial Real Estate Firm to Expand Further

January 9, 2019 – Marlton, NJ – Wolf Commercial Real Estate (WCRE) is pleased to announce the expansion and relocation of its Center City Philadelphia office, which includes the addition of three new team members serving southeastern Pennsylvania and Southern New Jersey. WCRE quickly outgrew its original Philadelphia office at 1601 Market Street, and has moved to 3 Logan Square, at 1717 Arch Street.

The new team members are Kevin Coleman, who joins as chief sales officer and executive vice president, and new sales associates Tyler Martin and Mike Scanzano. They join a team that includes several well-known business leaders with deep roots in the city. Among them are Brian Propp, director of strategic relationships, Tony Banks, vice president, Anthony Mannino, senior consultant, and sales associates Mitchell Russell and Joseph Nassib. Each brings a unique skill set, along with energy, passion, and the signature WCRE commitment to the community. Managing principal Jason Wolf and vice president and principal Chris Henderson, also assist the Philadelphia team.

“We’ve been serving numerous clients in and around Center City for the past few years, and we have fully committed to expanding our presence here,” said Henderson. “This move will create more opportunities for our Philly team to network and collaborate with clients and partners, and to deepen our commitment to community initiatives.”

More About WCRE's New Hires:

Kevin Coleman is a 15-year industry veteran. His role will include sales management and leadership, and business development throughout the region, with a heavy focus on central New Jersey. Coleman will also play an active part in the recruitment of all new team members.

Previously, Coleman served as a vice president of advisory services with Transwestern. During this time, he had the opportunity to work on behalf of office and industrial tenants, investors, and developers. From 2010-2016, Coleman served as director with Colliers International, working out of the Princeton, New Jersey office. He represented national, regional, and local companies with office, industrial, and healthcare requirements. Among many accomplishments, he was instrumental in helping to grow the Princeton office with the addition of a team of brokers.

On joining WCRE, Coleman said, “Jason has worked very hard to build a strong brand in the region, and I am excited for the opportunity to leverage my diverse background to help the team grow to the next level of performance.”

Tyler Martin is one of the firm’s two new sales associates. Martin is a former new business development representative in the fleet management industry who will be a valuable partner to clients seeking expertise in development and understanding the potential of a space. He will work closely with WCRE’s sales professionals to generate new business relationships and create opportunities for clients in Philadelphia and the suburbs.

Before graduating a year early from Lynn University in Boca Raton, Florida, Martin was a member of the NCAA lacrosse team. He has continued his education by pursuing his MBA with a concentration in Finance at Saint Joseph’s University. His anticipated graduation is in May 2019.

In addition to his professional activities, Martin is an attackman for the Hungarian National Lacrosse Team. He competed with the team in the 2018 World Lacrosse Championships in Israel.

Mike Scanzano also joins WCRE as a sales associate. He will focus on the Southern New Jersey market. Scanzano will specialize in sales and leasing, tenant and landlord representation, investment sales, and multi-family dwellings.

Scanzano is an entrepreneur and former professional athlete. He played six years of professional baseball, ending his career in 2010 with the Camden Riversharks. After baseball, he took a sales position with the Southern Illinois Miners, an independent minor league team. Since 2015 Scanzano is also the co-owner of Scanzano Sports in Cherry Hill, a baseball training center. He is responsible for marketing and business development, building relationships in the community, and overall management.

Mike is excited about the opportunity to join the team at WCRE and looks forward to utilizing his sales experience and professional relationships to expand the firm's client base.

Since its founding in 2012, WCRE has grown into a market leader in Southern New Jersey and southeastern Pennsylvania. The team has set a new standard in serving the needs of owners, tenants, and investors. The firm currently has more than 175 properties comprising 4.2 million square feet of office, retail, medical, industrial, flex, and investment property in the region under exclusive watch.

Jason Wolf said, "I'm excited to have such talented new team members servicing our clients in the Philadelphia and South Jersey regions. Our people have always been our biggest asset and our biggest advantage in the marketplace."
